

ARS Canada 2017 Scholarship Recipients

Liza Mesrob, Vana Foudoulian, Goryoun Koyounian, and Aren Babikian, with Ungerouhi Annie Ohanian

Aline Tachdjian, with Ungerouhi Annie Ohanian

Arman Ghaloussian, Robin Tombazian, Rebecca Simonian, Annie Sahagian, Khajag Papazian, and Lucy Minassian, with Ungerouhis Natalie Manoukian and Sylvie Ohanian

Christopher Joly, with Ungerouhi Annie Ohanian

The ARS Canada Executive Board is happy to announce that 12 deserving students received ARS Canada Scholarships this year.

These students are committed to their studies, as demonstrated by their academic performance. Most are also active participants in one or more of the following organizations: HMEM Montreal and Toronto, Hamazkayin Ani Barakhoump, AYF Canada, the Armenian Student Associations of Université de Montréal and the University of Toronto, Sourp Hagop Armenian Church Choir and the Soccer Association of Lac-St-Louis.

Our 2017 scholarship recipients are:

Aren Babikian of Montreal, a graduate of Sourp Hagop High School, studying Computer Engineering at McGill University

Goryoun Koyounian of Montreal, a graduate of Sourp Hagop High School, studying Political Science at Concordia University

Vana Foudoulian of Laval, a graduate of Sourp Hagop High School, studying Philanthropic Management at the Université de Montréal

Liza Mesrob of Laval, a graduate of the Armenian National High School in Aleppo, studying Environmental Design at the Université du Québec à Montréal

Aline Tachdjian of Montreal, a graduate of Sourp Hagop High School, studying Nutrition at the Université de Montréal

Arman Ghaloussian of Oakville, a graduate of Oakville Trafalgar High School, studying International Relations and Environmental Studies at University of Toronto

Robin Tombazian of Toronto, a graduate of Jean Vanier Catholic Secondary School, studying Political Science and Neuroscience at the University of Toronto

Rebecca Simonian of Toronto, a graduate of St. Robert Catholic High School, studying Physiology, Human Biology, and Global Health at the University of Toronto

Annie Sahagian of Toronto, a graduate of the Philomathic-Sarkis Tchemberdjian Secondary School in Aleppo, studying Human Biology at the University of Toronto

Khajag Papazian of Toronto, a graduate of Karen Jeppe Armenian National College in Aleppo, studying Mechanical Engineering at Ryerson University

Lucy Minassian of Toronto, a graduate of the Armenian National High School in Aleppo, studying Life Sciences at the University of Toronto

Christopher Joly of Toronto, a graduate of ARS High School, studying Business Management Entrepreneurship at Ryerson University

We wish our scholarship recipients continued success and we look forward to hearing about their future accomplishments.